Three Thousand People Enjoy Themselves at Mackin's Outing.

Postponement of the Sack Race Was a Great Disappointment.

Holders of Lucky Tickets Must Call Soon For Their Prizes.

NOTHING MARRED DAY'S PLEASURE

But few river excursions even given out of Louisville were so unqualified a success as that of last Tuesday to Fern Grove by Mackin Council, Y. M. I. The arrangements were perfect and were carried out in every particular, and the success of the outing is due largely to the hard work of Messrs. George Lautz, William Kerber, Charles Raidy, Ben Sand, Gus Weber, Robert Osborne, Fred Herp, Frank Adams, Hugh Higgins, Jim Shelley, Councilman Bizot, Vinnie Smith, Dr. Casper and others. Fully three thousand people took advantage of the ideal weather to spend a day with the young men of the West End, and it is gratifying to state that all are anxious to again lose a still greater period of time to aid Mackin Council in realizing its ambition to pay off its debts and make still further improvements to its beautiful home. All feel especially indebted to Mrs. Galway, Misses Ben Mullarkey, Katie Smith, Katie Henley, Mayme Crowley of Chicago and their assistants for their excellent services, both in entertaining and presiding over the dining tables. They arranged a dinner that was more in the nature of a banquet than an ordinary outing meal, and at an early hour everything had been consumed.

The promised exciting sack race was postponed till either this fall or next spring. Besides Jailer Pfanz, Councilman Gus Bizot, Charles Raidy, President Frank Murphy, Jack Shelley, Gus Weber, Barney Flynn and the writer there were twelve other entries. A conference was held Monday evening to select a judge for this contest, and Miss Elvira Snyder, Misser, the Tattler of the Times, was the unanimous choice. Unfortunately the popular Tattler, who is a shining light of the Women's Press Club, could not be present, having gone to the meeting and reception of the club at the country home of Miss Alma McDermott. No other name for the place would be considered, and therefore the race, which would have aroused the wildest excitement, was postponed till Mackin gives another outing, which all hope will take place this year. It was said that Murphy and Raidy had been practicing on rollers for some days and felt confident of carrying off the honors. But there were other favorites, and many pinned their faith to Jailer Pfanz and Barney Flynn.

The day was spent in all kinds of innocent amusement, not an incident occurring to mar the happiness of the occasion. Before the boat left several suspicious characters made their appearance at the wharf, but the presence of Assistant Chief Tom Meier and Detective Ross was sufficient warning that they had come to the wrong place and they took themselves off with alacrity. The officers and members feel very grateful to them for their watchfulness and care.

Shortly after the arrival of the noon boat the drawing for prizes took place and was very satisfactorily conducted by Dr. Alphonse B. Bizot and Jailer John R. Pfanz. The coupons were placed in a large sack, and were drawn forth by little Miss Grace Pfanz and Master Charles Hoban. The lucky numbers were: No. 27, a pair of trousers; No. 1,513, picture and frame to Mrs. Schofield, 2832 Cleveland avenue; No. 3,358, automatic swing; No. 4,831, lot of coal; T. J. Kelly, 728 Twenty-seventh street; No. 734, sideboard, Mrs. Holzknecht, 3217 Bismark avenue; No. 2,840, one box of tobacco; No. 61, suit of clothes, Ollas Kerick, 1533 Twelfth street; No. 1,315, rocker, Mrs. Jacob, 2227 Bank street; No. 1,107, barrel of flour; No. 400, center table, John J. Sullivan, Willard Hotel; No. 1,100, life-size portrait, Rev. Father A. J. Brady, St. Cecilia's church; No. 4,038, furnishings, William J. Daly, 2016 West Main street; No. 3,370, trousers; No. 1,864, hat. The holders of the tickets bearing the foregoing numbers are requested to call immediately at the club house on Twenty-sixth street, where their prizes await them. Mackin Council has added much to its finances as well as reputation, and ere long will show by handsome improvements a proper appreciation of the hearty support given its undertakings, which will doubtless continue till the new hall is erected and paid for.

THEIR ANNUAL DANCE.

A large crowd is expected at the annual invitation dance of the Young Ladies' Auxiliary of Trinity Council at Fountain Ferry Park next Wednesday night. The entertainments of these young ladies have all been high class and thoroughly enjoyable, and they are striving to make this one surpass any heretofore given by them. Miss Anna Daley, who heads the committee, is being ably assisted by Misses Mayme Burke, Minnie Lieboldt, Rose Gathof, Louise Stark, Mayme Kiely, Lillie Ackerman, Mayme Fink and Stella Oehler, and they assure their friends a pleasant reception and enjoyable evening. The Young Ladies' Auxiliary deserves the hearty support and encouragement of our young men, who should not fail to visit them Wednesday night at Fountain Ferry. John J. Sullivan, Jr., Dr. Phil Beutel, Jr., Will Rosenberg, Charles Sievert, Thomas Newman, William Goebel and George Dues have tendered their services to the girls and want their friends to be there also.

JOHN TROY DEAD.

One of Louisville's Oldest and Most Respected Railroad Men.

The numerous friends, railroad associates and all of the older members of St. Patrick's congregation sorrowfully heard of the death of John Troy, which occurred Monday morning at his residence, 812 Twelfth street. John Troy was one of Louisville's oldest and most respected citizens and his life was an active and honorable one. He was seventy-nine years of age, and for over forty years had been connected with the freight department of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, being one of the oldest and most popular employees of the system which he had seen grow to immense proportions. The deceased was a very charitable man and also a wise counselor to young men starting life's career.

Mr. Troy was a native of County Wicklow, Ireland, but came to this country in 1848, the year of peril and suffering in the Emerald Isle. After spending a short time in New York City he married Miss Ella Haunigan. Not long after his marriage he came to Louisville, and this city has been his home ever since.

Besides his aged wife Mr. Troy leaves eight children, Mrs. L. Lawrence and Mrs. C. J. O'Neill, of Memphis; Mrs. George Meikle, Miss Minnie and Messrs. George, John and Thomas Troy, of this city. The funeral took place Wednesday morning from St. Patrick's church with solemn high mass of requiem, Rev. Father Cronin being the celebrant, and was one of the largest seen there for some time, there being a large turnout of his railroad associates as well as mourning friends from all parts of the city. May he rest in peace.

WITNESSED CEREMONY.

Judge Taft and Other Americans Attend Papal Consistory.

The Papal consistory, about which the press has been speculating so much of late, was held in the Eternal City last Monday morning, Pope Leo XIII. being present throughout the ceremony. The Holy Father was borne to the Sistine chapel in the Sedia Gestatoria, surrounded by Cardinals, and formally bestowed red hats on Monsignor Martinelli, formerly Papal delegate in the United States; Prince Archbishop Skerbenky, of Prague, and Prince Bishop Von Prezyna, of Cracow.

The Pontiff also appointed several Bishops, including the Very Rev. William J. Kenny, Vicar General of Jacksonville, Fla., in succession to the late Bishop Augustin Verot, and Very Rev. Philip J. Garrigan, Vice Rector of the Catholic University at Washington, as Bishop of Sioux City, Iowa. Subsequently at the consistory the Pontiff delivered a short allocution.

Judge Taft, Governor of the Philippine Islands, and the Americans with him were invited to witness the ceremony. The party occupied seats in the diplomatic gallery. As the Pontiff passed he recognized them and smilingly bowed to the Americans. The Holy Father appeared in splendid health and his eye was unusually bright.

GENUINE SURPRISE.

The announcement last Tuesday evening that Oscar Hay and Miss Florence Coyle had been married the preceding Wednesday was a genuine surprise to many friends in Clarksville and Jeffersonville. They had been sweethearts for some time, but had so well guarded their attachment for each other that their union was not yet looked for. The bride is the lovely daughter of William Coyle and a young lady of many accomplishments. The lucky groom is the son of ex-Sheriff Hay, the well known livery man, with whom he will be associated in business. The happy couple are residing in a cozy home on Indiana avenue, which they had quietly fitted up before the announcement was made.

SATOLI'S MOONLIGHT.

Satoli Council, Y. M. I., a leading Catholic young men's organization, has made the most perfect arrangements for its eighth annual up-river moonlight excursion, which takes place Monday night. This council is composed of some of our best known Catholic citizens, and has won a splendid reputation by the excellence and success of the many social affairs given under its auspices. Catholic society generally looks forward to this pleasant event, and there is no doubt but that this up-river will be very largely attended. An interesting programme has been prepared, and besides dancing there will be refreshments. It is expected this will proceed farther up the river than do the ordinary moonlight excursions.

FEELING TRIBUTE

Carnegie Hall Crowded at Archbishop Corrigan Memorial Meeting.

Prominent Men of All Creeds Occupy Seats on the Platform.

Judaism Paid Tribute by the Presence of Venerable Dr. Gotthell.

PRESIDENT'S ABSENCE IS REGRETTED

Many religious denominations were represented in the thousands of people that went to Carnegie Hall, New York City, last Sunday night to honor the memory of the late Archbishop Corrigan. The great hall was crowded to the doors, and on the platform were scores of distinguished clergymen and laymen. Ex-District Attorney Eugene A. Philbin presided. On his right sat Bishop John M. Farley and on his left Monsignor Mooney. Judaism paid tribute to the dead Archbishop in the presence of the venerable Dr. Gotthell. Telegrams expressive of regret at enforced absence were received from President Roosevelt, Gov. Odell, Mayor Low and others. The speakers were W. Bourke Cockran, Thos. C. O'Sullivan, Thomas M. Mulry, State Commissioner of Charities; ex-Assistant District Attorney John J. Delaney and President Charles V. Fornes of the Board of Aldermen.

Civic life was represented on the platform by President Cantor of the Borough of Manhattan, ex-Controller Bird S. Coler, ex-Postmaster Charles W. Dayton, Justices Giegerich, O'Gorman and Fitzgerald, Recorder Goff and Judge Newburgh. The chorus of St. Cecilia, of the Church of St. Paul the Apostle, consisting of a hundred boys, under the direction of Edmund G. Hurley, sang "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" and "Happy and Blessed Are They" by Mendelssohn. Rodney's "Calvary" was rendered by a chorus of German singers, under direction of Franz Groes, with incidental solo parts by H. Hartman and Joseph Frey. Miss Hilke sang Gounod's "Ave Maria."

Chairman Philbin, in his opening remarks, paid a touching tribute to the late Archbishop, who was his personal friend. He said he was not only a sincere friend, a good priest and an able prelate, but, viewing his character and achievements as a whole, he must ever be regarded as a great man—great in his fidelity to duty, great in the sincerity and firmness of his convictions, and great because of what he had accomplished. Never have I known a man who was so unparagoned of his own comfort and pleasure, and who, in the higher planes of human endeavor or in his divine calling, whether in the cause of humanity or religion, so usefully employed every minute of his time and every faculty of his nature, mental and physical. We may well thank God that it has been given to us to have had our lives influenced by a character so saintly and by one who stands for all time as a model of a Catholic and a citizen.

The gifted Bourke Cockran in his eloquent tribute said in part:

Seldom if ever in the history of a civilized community has there been paid so impressive a tribute to the virtue, gentleness and character of any man. It is highly creditable to our citizenship that in this tribute men of many creeds have participated. The mere possession of the archbishopric was not the reason to invoke this tremendous tribute, but the possession of this great office has furnished to a really capable man an opportunity for displaying his quality, while to the incompetent, lacking capacity and devotion, it merely makes conspicuous defects which in other walks of life might pass unnoticed. There seems to be scarcely a department in human life in which Archbishop Corrigan's influence and capacity were not felt. He seems to have established a monument to his piety everywhere. His record is, I believe, unparalleled in its success for reforming youth. When we consider the talents, the business ability which this man displayed, can anybody doubt that if he had exercised them for his own benefit he would have died among the richest men in the community? He might have left an enormous fortune and perhaps disposed of it to charity, when it might have become useful after it had been employed for some time in defending itself against the attacks of heirs, if it had followed the precedent of other fortunes similarly bequeathed. He might have distributed the money for charitable and educational purposes with great applause for himself and undoubtedly great benefit to the community. But I believe I am justified in saying that the best gift which man can give to his fellows is the gift of himself, and that was the gift of Archbishop Corrigan. The splendid achievements of this diocese show the knowledge and good will of the clergy, but they also show the devotion and capacity of the Archbishop who guided and directed them. He was the embodiment of the priestly spirit.

Some persons will tell us that the great popularity which Archbishop Corrigan enjoyed was the result of a change in the Catholic church. Nothing could be a greater mistake. It is unchangeable and unchanged. As it was in the past, and we have the promise of God that it always will be. They tell us that the Catholic church is in some way opposed to republicanism. Catholicism is the only source of republicanism that the world has ever seen. It is to Catholicism that republicanism owes its birth. The only basis upon which republicanism can rest is the virtue of the individual system.

Archbishop Corrigan lived in milder times than when prelates were compelled to risk their lives in defence of their flocks. He lived in an age when it was no longer necessary for prelates to stand up and tell kings to pause before perpetrating outrages upon the people. But if it had been necessary for him to risk his life he would have done so gladly and willingly. He would have been found moving among the sick and helping the suffering. It was with zeal and fervor that he maintained the principle of virtue. Archbishop Corrigan was not of the liberal school of thought. He believed that every word and every syllable in the sacred legacy was true or none of it was true. He could not understand how any man professing to be a Catholic could under any circumstances relax in the slightest degree in the requirements of observance of the faith. He was uncompromising in the truths that were given to him by God. He never had a quarrel with those who disagreed with him. A man was either a Catholic or he was not. If he refused to believe he must leave the church; if he repented he was welcomed back. Upon the altar Archbishop Corrigan's piety was conspicuous. When he assumed his robe he was impressive and majestic. In the pulpit he was convincing and always interesting. Was he eloquent? I define eloquence as sincerity. It often happens that one man constructs the most elaborate phrases and sentences and his words fall flat upon his auditors, while another man whose address is unstudied will receive the most rapt attention. If you call sincerity eloquence, he was one of the strongest pulpit orators I have ever heard in this or any other community. He was singularly truthful, sincere and simple. I have never known a person to deceive him. It is said that nobody believes a lie but a liar. In my interview with the Pope he described him as a saintly man and a great prelate. That is the inscription which I believe should be placed on his tomb—a great prelate and a saintly man. It was that sentiment that was expressed by those who surrounded his bier, and by the sigh of the fellow citizens he left behind.

SPEAKS OUT BOLDLY.

Executive and Advisory Committees of Catholic Federation.

Last Sunday there was an important meeting at Cleveland of the Executive and Advisory Board of the American Federation of Catholic Societies, attended by Bishops McPaul and Messmer and the national officers. Letters were read from many Bishops endorsing the federation, among the number being Bishops Spalding, Haid, Michael, Glorieux, County, Hoban, Forest, Gabriels and Donahue. The date of holding the national convention was changed from July 15 to August 5.

The most important business transacted, however, related to the treatment of Catholics in the Philippines. Ringing resolutions were adopted urgently protesting against the course being pursued toward the school children, and the same were ordered sent to President Roosevelt. These are firm, respectful and clear cut and leave no doubt as to their meaning.

President Fowler, of the local federation, expressed himself highly elated over the action taken at Cleveland, as it gives Kentucky a better opportunity to organize federations before a call is made for a State convention. From the National Secretary he learns that the federation movement is meeting with great success in nearly all parts of the country.

CRONE-REICHERT.

This month is certainly one of wedding and Lohengrin's march will be played scores of times, but not for a happier union than that of Miss Emma Reichert and Theodore Crone at Holy Name church on Tuesday morning, June 24. Father O'Connor will be the celebrant of the nuptial mass, and the ceremony should be one of the most brilliant ever witnessed in South Louisville. The lovely bride is the daughter of Michael Reichert, State President of the Catholic Knights of America, and is a young lady of many accomplishments and a great favorite among her wide circle of friends. Mr. Crone is a prosperous young West End grocer. The young couple have a bright future before them, and in advance we wish them a long and happy journey through life.

UNION EUCHERE.

The union euchere and dance at Phoenix Hill Park next Wednesday evening under the auspices of the combined councils of the Young Men's Institute promises to be the society event of the week. The games will be played in the pavilion, but those who prefer may enjoy themselves dancing.

First Assistant Postmaster General Wynne, recently appointed, is a convert to the Catholic faith. He was for many years the Washington correspondent of the New York Press.

FRANK HAGAN

Announces His Candidacy to Succeed Judge Matt O'Doherty.

The Latter Was the Unanimous Choice of Bench, Bar and People.

Preferred His Immense Practice Rather Than Seat on Bench.

HAGAN HAS A STRONG FOLLOWING

Judge Matt O'Doherty last Saturday evening announced to the Democratic Committee that he would not be a candidate at the coming election for the Judgeship to which he had been lately appointed by Gov. Beckham. The appointment of Judge O'Doherty was the most popular yet made by the Governor, and met with the hearty approval of the bench, bar and people, and it was their earnest hope that he would continue to honor the position. Had Judge O'Doherty consented to run he would have had the united and hearty support of his party and besides thousands of our best citizens who prefer an able and upright official rather than a partisan. All those whose names had been at any time previously mentioned called upon him and urged him to make the race, pledging him their best efforts in his behalf. But notwithstanding all these assurances the Judge remained unshaken in his determination.

In the daily papers there were several statements as to the cause of Judge O'Doherty's action. The facts in the case are that he was never an applicant or candidate for the office, and his appointment by Gov. Beckham was a greater surprise to him than his friends. These same papers were as far wrong in their reports before his acceptance as they were regarding his declining certain nomination. For nearly a week he had the acceptance of the offered place under consideration, and it was only after the urgent solicitation of Judges, lawyers, business men and citizens in all walks of life that he consented, and then with the distinct understanding that there was no conditions attached to his action. During his short time on the bench his decisions have been entirely satisfactory to plaintiffs and defendants, and it was not uncommon to hear him spoken of and classed as another Judge Emmet Field.

Judge O'Doherty is by everybody recognized as one of the ablest and perhaps the most successful lawyer at the Louisville bar. His immense practice nets him over $20,000 a year, and that he would not relinquish this to accept a $5,000 Judgeship was no surprise to his intimate friends. In an interview he said no one could have a higher sense of appreciation of the honor conferred upon him and the consideration of the Governor than he, but when the appointment was accepted it was with a full understanding of what he would do when the time came. Judge O'Doherty's course throughout has won for him the highest respect of the people of Kentucky, who admire him for his frankness and honorable attitude, while regretting that he will no longer grace the bench with a dignity that would have added luster to the judiciary of Kentucky.

When Judge O'Doherty's determination was made public Capt. Frank Hagan, one of his strongest supporters, announced his candidacy, which has been well received all over the city. There is very little doubt but that everybody who was for Judge O'Doherty will rally to Mr. Hagan's standard, and this alone should insure his nomination and election. Capt. Hagan's great ancestors came to this country from Ireland before the Revolution. His grandfather, one of the Revolutionary pioneers, became a resident of Nelson county, this State, over 100 years ago, and there are now living in Fairfield and vicinity many of his descendants. After receiving a good education at the Catholic College at Bardonia Capt. Hagan began the practice of law at St. Louis, where he remained till the breaking out of the civil war. Casting his fortunes with the South, he fought valiantly for the Lost Cause till the close of the war, when he came to Louisville and resumed the practice of his profession. His ability was soon recognized and in 1868 he was elected Prosecuting Attorney for Louisville, filling the office for two terms with much credit.

Capt. Hagan has always been among the foremost fighters for Democratic principles, and every campaign found him working hard and earnestly for his party nominees. His reputation is not merely local, but extends throughout the country, due largely to his prominence in State and national conventions. He was the organizer and President of the Louisville Democratic Club that attracted such widespread notice at the St. Louis convention in 1876. Bryan had in him a zealous and ardent supporter, and never has he shrunk from any honest party duty. His past services certainly entitle him to the votes of his party.

Capt. Hagan's standing at the bar is high indeed. A good lawyer, of varied experience, he is in every way well equipped for the Judgeship to which he aspires. He has practiced in both the State and United States courts, and no one would exercise greater care in maintaining the honor and dignity of the bench. Well known and popular with the masses, no mistake will be made in selecting him as the Democratic standard bearer. Capt. Hagan is the father of Robert Hagan, Prosecuting Attorney of the City Court, who will organize the young Democracy in his interest.

Judge Thomas R. Gordon, who came to this city about twelve years ago, will make the race against Capt. Hagan.

NOBLE LIVES ENDED.

Mrs. Thomas Hill and Mrs. Bridget Hannan Pass Away.

This week the East End lost two more of its oldest and most highly respected residents and St. John's and St. Bridget's church each a devout communicant. Mrs. Julia Hill, the beloved wife of Thomas Hill, and mother of Rev. Father John Hill, of Hopkinsville, and Messrs. Michael and Joseph Hill, of this city, died Wednesday morning at her home, 528 East Breckinridge street. Though Mrs. Hill had not been enjoying good health for some time her demise was a great shock to her friends and relatives. Her funeral took place Friday morning from St. John's church, Rev. Father Hill celebrating the solemn high mass of requiem, assisted by a large number of local and visiting priests. The church was thronged with mourning friends and relatives, who followed the remains to their last resting place.

Mrs. Bridget Hannan, aged seventy-two years, passed peacefully away Thursday morning at her home on Baxter avenue, after a long illness, fortified by sacraments of her church and calmly awaiting the summons. She was the mother of Misses Bezie and Nellie Hannan and Thomas Hannan, with the Louisville Water Company. Mrs. Hannan came to this city from Ireland while a young woman. She married James Hannan, who died years ago, and was one of those noble women of the old Irish kind so seldom met with nowadays. Her funeral takes place this morning at St. Bridget's church, where Rev. Father Connolly will officiate at the high mass of requiem.

Both these ladies will be mourned by large numbers. They were women of rare Christian piety, always ready to alleviate the sufferings of their unfortunate neighbors, and setting an example that might be well followed by us all. May their souls rest in peace.

TAKE THE LEAD.

Well Known Club Women's Initial Lawn Fete Festival.

The initial lawn fete, ice cream and berry festival of the season is announced for next Friday afternoon and evening, under the patronage of the Enterprise Club, on the beautiful lawn of Col. Dan Kane, 2718 West Chestnut street. Though still young the Enterprise Club is one of the strongest and most influential of this city's women's clubs. It has done an immense amount of charitable and other good work during the past winter, and the proceeds of this coming fete will be devoted to such worthy purposes. The membership is composed principally of well known society ladies of the West End, who know how to entertain their friends, and all who attend will have a jolly good time. The present officers are:

President—Mrs. Joseph Clark.
Vice President—Mrs. Dan Kane.
Treasurer—Mrs. Col. Jas. P. Whitten.
Little folks will be entertained during the afternoon, the evening being for grown people. Features that will amuse old and young will be provided, and a more delightful affair will not take place for some time to come. Let our readers turn out that evening and meet the charming ladies of the Enterprise Club.

EMPLOYEES' EXCURSION.

Next Tuesday night the young gentlemen employees of J. M. Robinson, Norton & Co. and their friends will make their annual moonlight excursion up the Ohio river. Messrs. Frank Schuck, Ed Cumberland, Louis Kieffer, Paul Easton, James Murray, Robert Buckley, Albert Yost, Will Hohmann, Nello Smith, Charles Allen and Will Daly compose the committee having charge. Wehrley's hand has been secured and nothing has been omitted that will add to the enjoyment of the evening. The refreshments will be served by Benedict, and the employees invite all their friends to have a jolly river ride with them.

COAT TAILERS' CLUB.

A novel and original social club was organized last week by a number of well known young men residing between Twelfth and Eighteenth streets and south of Broadway. The members were given a Dutch supper by James Doyle, one of the promoters, and arrangements are being made for a big spread at the next meeting, which takes place June 25. One of its objects is to secure good government for that section, and as the members are all energetic young men the club may reach immense proportions.

The officers are:
President—Dominic Kaelin.
Vice President—Emmet Fitzpatrick.
Secretary—James Cullon.
Treasurer—James Doyle.

CALL A HALT.

Citizens Swindled by Solicitors for Alleged Catholic Publications.

Secure Advertisements From Merchants Through False Reports.

Their Manuals, Directories and Calendars Are Not Recognized.

THEY ALMOST RESORT TO BLACKMAIL

For some years Catholic citizens, merchants and others have been the victims of outrageous swindles, perpetrated by roving hands of smooth talkers who are slipping through the world without doing any honorable work. At different times they swoop down upon the town, visit some scab printing office and make arrangements for a job of work that when completed disgraces "the art preservative of all arts." Then they are ready for work. With some specimen of good work and proofs of some stock half tone cuts they proceed to entrap the unwary. Presenting themselves to such as do advertising, they profess to have the approval of the parish priest, the managers of some charitable institution or some well known citizens. They claim they have been authorized to issue a Catholic parish directory or calendar, some of the proceeds of which will go to some deserving public institution, but never a cent has yet been received from any such parties.

Others make the claim that they will publish a recognized "Catholic Manual," which usually consists of a calendar and some few facts known to every school boy. Non-Catholics are the greatest sufferers from this class of sharpers. They think they are contributing to a recognized and authorized publication, and often pay very high prices for the space allotted them. These people skip over the town in a hurry, secure the signatures of the unsuspecting, and very quickly return with a "hum" pamphlet or card and demand their money. If any refuse because of the apparent fraud they are threatened with exposure and lawsuit, and in the majority of cases they tamely submit.

Complaints have come to this office of men who have been usug women here this summer as decoys. It has been charged in at least two instances that the signatures to the contracts were forged, the woman having adroitly secured a business card or bill head which would be used as copy. When the unauthorized work was refused the woman would be brought forth for the purpose of making charges that constituted blackmail.

The representative of the Kentucky Irish American ran down one of these fellows this week. In response to questions he admitted that his alleged Catholic Manual was nothing but an individual enterprise, unauthorized and unofficial, and declared that the indorsement of the Holy Father would be of no advantage to him.

To the people who would reach the Catholic reading public we say beware of these fakers. They never issue anything that reaches the destination desired by the advertiser. There are legitimate and honest Catholic journals here deserving of this patronage, who suffer from the periodical visits of these pirates. The Kentucky Irish American reaches more homes in a week than do all these fake publications combined in a year. Take warning and hereafter advertise with those whom you know and are with you all the time. Then there will be no threats of lawsuits and exposure—no blackmail.

Those who would advertise judiciously should soon make arrangements for space in our anniversary issue.

CLOSING OF SCHOOLS.

Tomorrow evening at St. Anthony's Hall, Twenty-third and Market streets, a large audience is expected to witness the closing exercises of St. Cecilia's school. This is one of the largest English-speaking parochial school in Louisville, and is in charge of the Sisters of Charity, who have arranged an excellent programme with which to celebrate the close of a most prosperous year.

The closing exercises of St. Augustine's school for colored children will occur Thursday evening, June 26, at the church hall on Broadway, near Fourteenth. The feature will be the musical programme, which will be well worth hearing, as the colored people are noted for their musical genius. Father Felton's friends are anxious that there be a large attendance on that occasion, when a very small admission will be charged in order to help him in his noble labors for the saving of the souls of the colored people.

INJURIES NOT SERIOUS.

Pat King, employed at Bannou's pipe works, met with an accident Monday which it was feared would lay him up for some time. He was at once removed to his home, 1121 Zane street, where he received immediate attention. His injuries, though painful, are not serious, and the physicians say that after a few days of rest and quiet he will be all right again.

LYNCH ARRESTED.

Col. Arthur Lynch, against whom a warrant charging high treason for his part in the Boer war has been issued, and for whom the Scotland Yard detectives have been on the lookout for weeks, landed in England Tuesday, was arrested, taken to London, arraigned and remanded till Saturday. It was intimated that bail would be allowed, but Lynch did not ask it. His case will likely prove annoying to the British Government as well as important, involving one of the boasted "sacred rights" of the English system of government.

Lynch is the representative-elect of the people of Galway in the British Parliament. As such he is entitled under the law to immunity from arrest, except for grave felony, that will interfere with his duties as representative of his constituency in Parliament. Lynch was not charged with offense till after his election, though the acts are alleged to have been committed previous to his election, and until convicted thereof—if it be held a grave felony—he can not legally be denied or deprived of his seat and his constituency of representation in Parliament, and then by Parliament, and not by any other authority. Parliament can refuse to seat him, but can take no action till he presents himself; or expel him, but can not do so till he takes his seat. To arrest and imprison a member of Parliament, preventing him taking a seat to which he has been elected, on charges of offenses previous to his election, will be a usurpation of Parliamentary right and authority and a blow at representative government, which would raise a storm of protest, even though Parliament submitted to it.

Now that Lynch is in custody the case will be watched with interest. The refusal of Lynch to apply for bail looks as if he will not allow the Government to shift the issue, and the offer of bail in a case of high treason shows unusual leniency on the part of the Government, as parties so charged are not allowed bail—at least before a preliminary trial. Lynch has returned, been arrested, and now what will come of it?

ENGLAND'S COSTLY VICTORY.

We stated last week that the world would have opinions of its own regarding the peace in South Africa, and outside of England it seems the opinion is one-sided—that the Boers, except independence, could not have claimed better terms had they been the victors. It develops that the terms granted the Boers are far more liberal than those on which Gen. Botha offered to surrender sixteen months ago. Kitchener favored accepting Botha's terms, but Chamberlain and Milner scornfully refused because Botha required civil instead of military government, no confiscation of property or punishment of participants in the war and the return of prisoners. After sixteen months of fighting the Boers are given far more than Botha asked. Of course this is because of the prowess of English arms, for which Kitchener is to be presented with $250,000 and made an Earl; but there are those who assert it is because the cost, loss of life, number of invalids and cripples, stagnation of trade and industries, scarcity of funds and general growing discontent at home rendered it imperative to stop the war and escape inevitable disaster to the British empire.

Despite the censorship and misstatements of the London War Office regarding the cost and losses of the war, the information is now available since peace has been declared. The Governments of the world had representatives on the field who made regular reports. From the Bureau of Information of the United States War Department it is ascertained that the cost of maintaining the English army in South Africa for thirty-two months was $500,000,000. This does not include mobilization, transportation and expenditures previous to arrival and after departure from South Africa. All estimates put the total cost at not less than $1,000,000,000, and this does not include expenditures incurred by the terms of surrender for the future.

Likewise the loss of English in killed, wounded and missing is given to May 1, 1902. It shows a total of 4,086 officers and 91,593 men—not including prisoners released, deaths in captivity or of sick sent home. The estimated total of killed, deaths from sickness, wounded and disabled is put at 100,000 to 125,000.

COERCION.

For general information as to where the anti-conspiracy laws sometimes sought to be enforced against labor unions come from we give a few of the charges on which persons in Ireland are being arrested, fined and imprisoned. It will also enlighten some on what "Irish coercion" means. In this country workmen raise a howl against such tyranny and politicians and press take it up, but when it occurs in Ireland our politicians and press are silent, and some people wonder what the "Irish are always kicking about." How nearly like our anti-labor warrants they read:

"Conspiracy to boycott certain persons in connection with the taking of evicted farms."

"Conspiracy to compel certain persons not to continue in the occupation of certain lands."

"Conspiracy to induce one Dennis Connolly not to work for one John M. Hodgkins."

"Conspiracy to induce certain persons, whose names are unknown, not to deal with Dennis Connolly or John M. Hodgkins."

"Being concerned in the passing of a resolution referring to land-grabbers and grazers."

"Conspiracy to induce persons not to leave lands when ordered to do so by the landlord or his agent."

"Conspiracy to refuse and resist payment of increased rent and costs of land holdings."

"Conspiracy to aid persons in holding land from which they have been ordered evicted."

"Conspiracy to induce or prevent persons from renting or occupying lands from which tenants have been evicted."

"Giving aid and shelter to evicted tenants on the estate from which they had been evicted."

In this last case a leasehold tenant had taken in his brother's family, who had been evicted from another part of the estate. As the leaseholder can not be dispossessed, he was arrested, fined $10 and sent to jail for three months.

And so on. We could give more samples, but these will suffice to show where anti-labor laws come from—English law—and what is meant by coercion in Ireland. The resentment of our people against any attempt to enforce it in labor troubles indicates that its enforcement as in Ireland would be met by a revolution.

The settlement of the teamsters' strike by arbitration in Chicago seems to have opened the eyes of employers to the advantages of arbitration, and they now propose a standing board of arbitration to settle future differences without strikes and boycotts. The teamsters signify their acceptance of the proposition. The world do move, and so far the laborer is leading in the march of progress. Arbitration prevents as well as settles strikes, besides teaching employer and employee their mutual interests and reliance, and their benefit in uniting to protect instead of antagonizing and injuring each other.

Some folks are easily consoled, or at least they affect to be. Lord Goschen, speaking in the British House of Lords on the financial situation, said "the country might well congratulate itself on a situation which showed such economic stamina." And this with 2 1/4 per cent. consols at 97 3/4 per cent. discount, while three years ago 2 per cent. consols were 101. Though the interest rate is increased 25 per cent., the price of consols has decreased 4 per cent. But as the Premier, Lord Salisbury, says this "is very gratifying," it must be.

The Washington Post thus sums up the South African "surrender": "After sixteen more months of fighting, defeat, loss, demoralization, England yields more than Botha demanded in the first place, and all Great Britain is abandoned to hysterical rejoicing at the deliverance. A careful examination of the material thus far placed at our disposal warrants the conclusion that Great Britain has made a very fortunate escape, and that the Boers have obtained—with the single exception of national independence—everything they have been fighting for. We shall hear from South Africa again."

The Tobacco Trust claims to have 35,000 employees, none of whom belong to the Tobacco Workers' Union. It might also add that the majority of its employees are of the most ignorant class, and are not paid enough to enable them to live in a decent house, to wear good clothes or get enough to eat, being more or less of a burden on public charity, to say nothing of their morals and behavior, which will not command a premium. It is questionable whether the trust's factories are a benefit or a curse to a community.

Speculators who bought up leases on lodging houses, rooms and view points in London for the coronation are in danger of a "frost," as it seems the attendance from abroad will not be as large as expected, and the "rich and gullible Americans" are not sending in orders with the cash, as anticipated.

An exchange suggests that perhaps the Irish members of Parliament would accept the Hon. Webster Davis as the hero of the South African war. Well, not if the Irish members of Parliament know anything of the Hon. Webster Davis, his pedigree, record and so on.

We heartily appreciated the favors bestowed upon us this week by numbers of clergy and our Catholic societies. They give us great encouragement during the dull and heated season.

President Donald McDonald's card in last week's issue opened the eyes of a number of gas consumers.

Wonder if the treaty of Pretoria will prove a second treaty of Limerick?

DON'T FORGET ST. PHILIP NERI.

The members of Rev. Father Ackerman's parish announce their annual outing this year for Monday June 30, at Phoenix Hill Park. Many valuable prizes have been secured for distribution among ticket holders, and committees are at work arranging for a day of amusement that will surpass any given in Louisville for years. The features that are being secured will be announced next week. Don't forget the picnic. Father Ackerman's friends know how to entertain their friends and celebrate on such an occasion.

Hon. Albert S. Berry last Monday announced his withdrawal from the race for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Covington district.

SOCIETY.

Miss Ethel Fitzgerald is home from Roanoke, Va., where she was attending school.

Miss Margaret Coleman gave a coaching party to a number of her friends Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Elizabeth Logue, of New Albany, has been spending the week with friends at Martinsville, Ind.

Miss Cora Eleanor O'Meara, who has been pursuing her studies at Notre Dame College, Baltimore, arrived home Thursday.

Pat McNulty, who was called here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Annie Hinkley, his wife's mother, left Wednesday night for his home at Birmingham.

Misses Rose and Mary Conroy will next week move into their beautiful new home on Twenty-sixth street. They are the fashionable dressmakers of the West End.

Misses Kathleen Bryan and Mayme Shanks, attractive visitors from Lexington, are the guests of Miss Edna Rubel, with whom they will spend a week.

Mrs. L. B. Pemberton, wife of the New Albany optician, left this week for the lake shore to visit her sister, Mrs. A. B. Gates, with whom she will remain for a month or six weeks.

Invitations are out for a big jollification tomorrow at the home of Jerry O'Leary, 1235 West Market street, in honor of the christening of little Edward, the latest arrival from Babyland.

John Patterson, cousin of the late William Patterson, left Wednesday for his home in Chicago. During his stay here he was the guest of Mrs. William Patterson, 2609 West Main street.

Miss Mayme Crowley, a fair visitor from Chicago, is the guest of Miss Bee Mullarkey, 2416 Griffiths avenue. She has won many friends during her short visit here and has been the recipient of much social attention.

Edward Tierney, of the Board of Safety, returned Tuesday from an enjoyable visit with friends at Pineville and Middlesboro. Mr. Tierney, who is a disciple of Isaac Walton, reports the fishing as excellent at the latter place.

The lawn fete given by the ladies of New Albany at St. Edward's hospital Monday afternoon and evening for the benefit of the hospital dispensary, was an enjoyable event and was largely attended and liberally patronized.

Miss Mary Russell, a popular and accomplished young lady of the West End, and James F. Scanlon, with the tailoring establishment of Guilfoyle & Co., have announced their engagement, and August 5 has been set as the date for their marriage.

Dan Coblenz, the St. Louis representative of Bernheim Bros., after spending a week with friends in this city, left Tuesday for an extended trip through Virginia, Maryland and the Carolinas. Dan has met with great success since leaving Louisville.

A delightful reception is announced for next Tuesday afternoon in honor of Miss Henrietta Kaiser at the home of her parents, 806 Eighth street. Miss Kaiser will that day be graduated with high honors from the Academy of Our Lady of Mercy on East Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schmuck will give a reception Tuesday evening at their home, 1615 West Chestnut street, in honor of their daughter, Miss Josie, an attractive graduate of the Academy of Our Lady of Mercy. Miss Schmuck will be assisted in receiving by members of her class.

Secretary Jack Shea, of the Board of Public Safety, will leave soon for a short stay in Georgetown, where he has many friends. None of our city officials are more deserving of a vacation, which might well be extended to include the yearly fair held in that progressive Bluegrass town.

The most delightful of the week's many entertainments was that given the Women's Press Club on Tuesday afternoon by Miss Alma McDermott at her beautiful country home. The gathering was a merry one and the charming hostess added another never-to-be-forgotten page to the club's history.

Another very enjoyable euchre and reception was given Tuesday afternoon and evening at the school hall by the Married Women's Club of Holy Trinity church, New Albany. These good ladies give these entertainments every two weeks, and are thus doing much toward the improvements being made on the church by Rev. Father Kelly.

The thousands of readers of the Kentucky Irish American, especially the Irish-Americans, Knights of Columbus and Catholic Knights, will rejoice over the good news that Undertaker John Barrett has greatly improved during the past week. He is now sitting up, and it is sincerely hoped it may not be long until his recovery is complete and he is again able to mingle with his host of friends.

Orrie Whallen is back from a two weeks' stay at Hardin Springs. This popular summer resort, he says, is growing rapidly in popular favor, and the commodious hotel there is almost filled with delighted guests. The natural curiosities in that vicinity are many, and besides boating and fishing there are amusements of all kinds. This is an excellent place to go to for a season of rest.

Chief of Detectives William Sullivan spent several days in Lexington this week, where he went to attend the annual meeting of the Kentucky Association of Police Chiefs. The head of the Louisville department was at all times surrounded by others eager to receive suggestions from him. This city never had a more efficient Chief of Detectives, hence his exceeding popularity and the great confidence reposed in him.

James Farley, the young son of William Tynan, was christened at St. John's last Sunday afternoon, and the ceremony being followed by a largely attended and enjoyable reception and supper at the family residence, on Preston street. Mr. and Mrs. James Metcalf were the sponsors.

Miss Bridget Heskin, left Thursday for New York, and today sails on the Etruria for Ireland, where she goes to visit her parents, who reside at Castle-town, in the County Mayo. She will spend six months in the Emerald Isle. Miss Heskin is very popular, and a large number of her friends accompanied her to the train.

W. A. Pendergrast, Secretary of the National Credit Men's Association, which held its annual meeting in this city during the past week, paid the local council of the Knights of Columbus a visit at its meeting last Wednesday evening. Mr. Pendergrast bails from the city of Brooklyn, is a member of the Supreme Board of the Knights of Columbus and Chairman of the Finance Committee. He will be here for some days winding up the affairs of the association.

A largely attended and enjoyable reception was given Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Finnegan, 614 Washington street, in honor of Joe Finnegan, who but recently arrived here from Ireland. Vocal and instrumental solos were features, and after a bounteous and well served supper dancing was indulged in until a late hour. The house was beautifully decorated and the tables artistically arranged by the generous and charming host and hostess.

The most brilliant double wedding ever witnessed in Carrollton was solemnized at St. John's church with nuptial high mass Tuesday morning, when Miss Emma Straub and Matt Grasmick and Miss Margaret Gill and Will Straub were united in the holy bonds of wedlock, the ceremony being witnessed by a concourse of friends that thronged the church, which was specially decorated for the occasion. All are prominent in the best social circles of that section of Kentucky.

Joseph W. First and Miss Dora Peschke were married Wednesday morning at St. Boniface church with nuptial high mass. John First, brother of the groom, was best man, and Edward Hoerter chief usher, and Miss Rosa Peschke, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Following the church ceremony the happy couple received their friends at a reception and wedding feast at the residence of the bride's mother, 412 East Jefferson street, and afterward were showered with congratulations at a dance given in their honor at Turner's Hall. They are now at home at 641 East Market street.

The Church of the Immaculate Conception was the scene of a brilliant marriage ceremony Tuesday morning, in which German society of the State was interested. The contracting parties were Miss Julia Schulmann, the amiable and lovely daughter of George Schulmann, and sister of Rev. Father Schulmann, of the Cathedral, and Henry Imorde, of the Frank Menne Candy Company. There were a number of priests at the nuptial mass, celebrated by Fathers Westerman and Schulmann. The young couple are spending their honeymoon in the East, and have with them the best wishes of a host of friends.

Much interest is manifested in the approaching nuptials of Miss Celia Brearcliff and John Whalen, cards for which were issued this week. Their marriage will be solemnized with nuptial high mass at St. John's church on Wednesday morning, June 26. Very Rev. Father Bax performing the ceremony. Immediately after the wedding breakfast the newly wedded pair will leave on their honeymoon trip. The bride-elect is the pretty and accomplished sister of Stephen Brearcliff, who is with Fred Brinke, the grocer. John Whalen is one of the best known and most popular young men residing in the East End, and has for years been a valuable employee of the Dennis Long foundry.

The marriage of Miss Mary Casey and Patrick Welsh was witnessed by large numbers of their friends at St. Louis Bertrand's church Wednesday morning. Rev. Father Justa performed the ceremony, and Miss Maggie Casey, sister of the lovely bride, presided at the organ. Though the young couple had long ago formed the attachment so happily consummated the invitations to their wedding came as a great surprise to all but their immediate friends. They are now spending their honeymoon at Birmingham. The bride is the daughter of the late Michael Casey and resides on West Oak street. For some years the groom, who is a well known resident of Limerick, has been connected with the Kentucky Public Elevator Company.

A marriage that will prove of more than ordinary interest in German Catholic society circles of the East End is announced to take place at St. Martin's church with nuptial mass on Tuesday, June 24, the contracting parties being Miss Mary Blasi, the accomplished and attractive sister of Messrs. Henry and John Blasi, and Philip Schlemmer, Jr., one of the best known young carpenters in the East End, who holds a good position with the L. & N. Following the ceremony at the church the couple will be tendered a reception and wedding dinner at the residence of the bride's father, George Blasi, 1725 Clay street, after which they will leave for the South on their honeymoon trip. They have the best wishes of a host of friends for a happy married life.

HAVE NO GOAT.

Much Ado Made Over Harmless Card in Local Papers.

The Author Taken to Task by Editor of the Catholic Telegraph.

Some Valuable Information For Critics of Knights of Columbus.

THE CARD WAS UNNOTICED HERE

A few weeks ago a harmless card containing some restrictions upon the Knights of Columbus appeared in the Glaubensbote of this city, to which but little attention was paid, it being well known that the author was writing under a misapprehension of the facts. But the editor of the Catholic Telegraph of Cincinnati took the article seriously, and his comment thereon, which we give herewith, is now going the rounds of the Catholic press:

A contribution to last Thursday's issue of the Catholicischer Glaubensbote, of Louisville, Ky., makes an attack upon the Knights of Columbus, which, like all attacks upon that order, is founded upon a misconception of its ritual and objects. The writer, who hides his identity under the initials "F. Z.," seems to belong to the knightly order of which Don Quixote was such a valorous member, for he tilts very valiantly with windmills. In charging upon Columbus chivalry he imagines he is attacking liberalism. He quotes Conde D. Itallen against "Americanism" and makes a sorry attempt to distort Dr. Pallen's utterances to the discomfiture of the Knights of Columbus. He rightly calls Dr. Pallen a deep thinker, but we are certain that he will regret this praise when we inform him that Dr. Pallen is an active, enthusiastic member of the Knights of Columbus. No well informed Catholic would accuse the late Archbishop Corrigan of being a liberalist, and yet the present writer heard that learned and holy prelate publicly approve of the Knights of Columbus.

The contributor of the Glaubensbote conjures up a goat, and his poetic fancy pictures the cantankerous animal cavorting and prancing about the initiating ball with a priest astride his back, and bawling on to William's horns for dear life. He tells us in all quixotic seriousness that "the goat is the biblical representation of the devil," and the coat of arms of Free Masons. Now we desire to kindly inform "F. Z." that the Knights of Columbus have no goat, or any other kind of an animal—not even an image or picture of one. Regarding priestly candidates the utmost respect is always displayed, as is conclusively proved by their unanimous testimony and by their subsequent zeal in promoting the interests of the order. "F. Z." certainly is acquainted with some of the revered members of the order; and we would respectfully suggest that he inquire of them whether during their initiation they were not treated with the respect due their sacred calling.

It seems unjust to us for those who know little or nothing about the principles of the Knights of Columbus to criticize the order and accuse it of things of which it is entirely innocent. For the information of such critics we desire to state that the Knights of Columbus are composed of Catholic gentlemen, bound together by the principles of charity, unity, fraternity and patriotism, for the purpose of advancing Catholic interests generally, as well as for the mutual benefit of its members. The order aims to organize a practical, intelligent, influential corps of the Church Militant, that will combat the dark ignorance of bigotry with the bright light of the knowledge of our Faith; that will obliterate among ourselves all prejudices of nationality; that will lend its powerful aid to promote greater sociability among Catholics to the end that there will be a more hearty co-operation of laity and clergy, and that there will be at least a great diminution in the number of mixed marriages. Among its more immediate benefits is the insurance it offers to those of its members who are between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years.

The order at present has over eighty thousand knights—several thousands are active, zealous clergymen, from whom there are no more enthusiastic members on the roster. Can any one doubt that that an order founded on these lines will accomplish a world of good for our people? In union there is power, in power there is strength, in strength there are the means of commanding attention and respect. The Knights of Columbus are bound together to stand shoulder to shoulder against bigotry and misrepresentation, to uphold fearlessly and intelligently the faith of our fathers, to emulate the example of St. Vincent de Paul, and to prevent with might and main the outlawing of God and religion by the infidel legislators of our land. We think that an apology is due from "F. Z."

LIVELY RACE AHEAD.

Messrs. Frank Hagan and Thomas R. Gordon, both able and well known members of the Louisville bar, last Monday announced their candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Common Pleas Judge, to succeed Judge O'Doherty. The friends of both have gone actively to work, and the race promises to be an exceedingly lively one.

COMMENCEMENTS.

Fair Graduates Will Blossom
Forth Largely Next Week.

Graduating exercises will be the social feature of next week. Large numbers of lovely girls will be graduated from the various educational institutions, and the closing of the parochial schools will be marked by appropriate exercises, those of St. Cecilia's taking place Sunday evening at St. Anthony's Hall.

Most interesting programmes have been arranged for both Presentation Academy, the largest Catholic female educational institution in this city, and the Academy of Our Lady of Mercy on Broadway, where Misses Marie Heverin, Henrietta Kaiser, Josie Schmuck, Teresa Girardi and Nellie Angermeyer will receive their diplomas.

Nazareth will be the objective point of many this week also, the nineteenth annual commencement taking place Thursday, when high honors will be conferred upon Misses Marie Wathen, Stella O'Connor Theresa Wathen, all of this city. Six young ladies will be graduated.

On Wednesday the fifty-first annual commencement of Gethsemani College will be held, and as much interest is everywhere felt in this seat of learning many of our leading citizens have arranged to be present. Col. Joe Herrmann and his brother Michael will be two of a large party who will leave here Tuesday.

Another noted institution is the Academy at Loretto, where many of our leading society and literary women have been educated. This year's programme is of a very high order, and many parties will spend several days there, where quite a number of Louisville young ladies are being prepared for their life's work.

Five young ladies were graduated Thursday from Cardome, near Georgetown, in the presence of a large audience. This academy bears a well-deserved reputation, and the young ladies on the programme acquitted themselves well.

SHORT NEWS NOTES.

Chicago is to have a 100,000 horsepower electric plant to cost $6,000,000.

The Sisters of Mercy in Dubuque, Iowa, have awarded contracts for an annex to their hospital to cost $125,000.

Brocton, Mass., is the largest shoe manufacturing place in the world, the annual output aggregating $24,000,000. The wage scale is also 20 per cent. higher than anywhere else.

Nebraska's winter wheat crop this season will add $30,000,000 to the farmers' wealth. This year more than 3,000,000 acres have been planted, and the yield promises more than ever before.

John Downey, aged ninety-six years, is dead at his home near Martinsville, Ind. He was the oldest citizen in the county and was well known and highly respected. Mr. Downey was born June 1, 1808, in Ireland.

The quarantine instituted by the Kentucky State Board of Health against Indiana has been suspended until July 1. In some quarters it is thought the action was taken because of representations made by individuals who hoped to profit by the expenditure of a portion of Indiana's emergency fund.

The death is announced from Nashville of William P. Sweeney, fifty-nine years old, one of the best known railroad men in the South. He was chief train dispatcher for the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railway, with which road he had been connected for thirty-five years, and had held his position longer than any dispatcher in the United States.

Even in Klondike, says the Yukon Catholic, one can find a good illustration of the universality of the Catholic church. At St. Mary's church sermons are preached in three languages and at any of the Sunday services can be seen worshippers from nearly every country on the globe. The first Mayor of Dawson City is Mr. Henry C. Macaulay, born at Lindsay, Ontario, of Irish parents, with his wife is an active member of St. Mary's congregation.

THEIR FIRST MASS.

Rev. Augustus Zoeller, of this city, who studied his classics at the Franciscan College and completed his theological studies at St. Bernard's College, Rochester, will celebrate his first mass tomorrow morning at Father Niesen's church at St. Matthews. Quite a number of relatives and friends of the young priest will be present from this city to receive his blessing.

Rev. Earl Willett, also of Kentucky, but whose parents now reside in St. Louis, will tomorrow morning celebrate his first mass in that city. He pursued his classical studies at St. Charles College, Baltimore, then going to St. Bernard's was ordained with Father Zoeller.

AGAIN ON FORCE.

The announcement that Peter D. Madden will again become a member of the Jeffersonville police force was welcome news to his numerous friends in that city. Before becoming City Pump Contractor he was a member of the police force, and everybody declares he was one of the best patrolmen the city ever had.

NOT ALLOWED ANY.

A national school inspector in Ireland was once examining a class in geography, and having reason to correct an answer to a question regarding longitude, proceeded to ask for a definition of latitude. There was a slight pause, and a young lad answered: "Please, sir, we have no latitude in Ireland. The Government won't allow us any."

M'DONNELL

Said to Have Been Selected as Successor to Archbishop Corrigan.

Only Necessary That His Name
Appears in Lists of Clergy and Bishops.

The Procedure Before the Pope
Announces His Final Decision.

PROCEEDINGS BEFORE PROPAGANDA

The latest news from Rome concerning the appointment of a successor to Archbishop Corrigan is rather indefinite, but we give it for what it is worth. While no official action has yet been taken about the new Archbishop of New York, and will not be until the names of the three selections of the missionary rectors of the diocese and the Bishops of the archdiocese have been sent to the Propaganda, unofficial action has taken place and the appointment is as good as settled if the candidate of the Propaganda appears on the lists of the clergy and Bishops. If not the lists will be sent back and the competent authorities in America will be asked to deliberate again. This happened recently in the nomination of the Bishop of Portland.

The Propaganda receives three separate documents from the United States when an Episcopal nomination is to be made, one from the clergy of the diocese, another from the Bishops of the province and a third from the apostolic delegation at Washington. On receipt of these documents the Propaganda appoints one of its Cardinals to examine into the character and the record of the selections, and after a delay, which may be long or short according to circumstances, presents his report before a plenary meeting of the congregation, which acts upon it there and then. As a rule the congregation selects one of the names forwarded, and most frequently the one selected is the one who appears as "dignissimus" on the list of the clergy, the order being "dignissimus," "most worthy," "dignior," "more worthy," and "dignus," "worthy."

After this procedure the final decision of the Pope is pronounced. The three names are taken to the Vatican by the Secretary of the Propaganda. He presents the three names to the Holy Father and informs him of the recommendation of the congregation. The Pope is usually satisfied with asking a few questions, and then immediately signs the appointment of the candidate recommended by the Propaganda. Not always, however, for sometimes Pope Leo absolutely refuses to appoint a churchman who has all kinds of recommendations. When Monsignor Kelly was sent in for the coadjutorship of the Cardinal Archbishop of Sydney His Holiness resisted the appointment for six months, and only yielded when he realized that no other man could be found so eminently fitted for the office.

Another more remarkable instance may be cited. Monsignor Prior, rector of the new Buda College, in Rome, has been sent up no less than four times, first on the list of Bishops and clergy for vacant dioceses in England. Only a couple of months ago the most urgent petitions were addressed to the Propaganda and the Pope to appoint him to the See of Nottingham—but Leo absolutely refuses to let him go from the Buda College, where he regards his services as necessary.

It is, however, improbable that there will be any hitch in this kind in the nomination for the vacancy in New York. The Propaganda has practically settled on the selection of a name which is almost certain to be sent in the list of the clergy. The name in question is that of Bishop McDonnell, of Brooklyn.

A popular young man was brought before the Justice in Texas, charged with the offense of kissing a young lady "by force and against her will." The young lady, who was very handsome, gave her testimony in a modest and straightforward manner, after which the Judge pronounced the following decision: "The court in this case sympathizes with the defendant, and will therefore discharge him without a fine, imprisonment or reprimand, because the court, whilst this case has been in progress, has been obliged to hold on to both arms of his chair in order to keep from kissing complainant himself."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

It is better to boil eggs twenty minutes than ten, as in the former case they are mealy and dry and more readily digested.

When pan broiling chops always stand them for a minute on their ends, that the fat edge may be cooked crisp and brown instead of remaining pale and unsightly.

When making sauce, melt the butter in the saucepan first and when bubbling hot add the flour. Blend thoroughly and smoothly before adding milk or stock.

To make chocolate filling, add half a cupful of water or milk to two cupfuls of brown sugar, butter the size of an egg and half a cake of chocolate grated. Boil until thick enough to spread between the cake layers. Chopped nuts and raisins may be used in this filling.

The best method of cleaning windows is the polishing with whitening or powdered chalk, first applied upon a wet cloth or paper and then with a dry one. In the absence of whitening a few drops of alcohol or ammonia on a damp cloth which does not shed lint will remove all spots, and the glass can then be polished with chamois skin.

A useful washing fluid is made by boiling together half a pound of slaked lime and a pound of soda in six quarts of water for two hours. Let it settle and then pour off the clear liquid for use. This will be found very useful in the laundry for really coarse articles, and it is also most effectual in bringing kitchen tables and the floors of rooms to a good color.

WELL-BRED WOMEN.

The best bred women do not fuss. They take their gowns and their furniture, their jewels and their children as a matter of course. They are unconscious of their veils and their gloves, and they expect every one else to be equally so. If they see an intimate wearing a handsome gown, they refer to it admiringly, but they also preface their comment with an apology. Their differences with their husbands are not aired, neither are the domestic upheavals caused by the desertion of the cook on wash morning. The repose of the well-bred woman is not the quiet of weakness. It is the calm of trained faculties, balanced so nicely that an earthquake may cause a change of color, but will not bring forth a loud cry. Well-bred women are a boon to the human race. They help the social and professional world to maintain a high standard both of morals and behavior.

MISTAKEN VANITY.

Impressionable girls are very apt to think themselves in love when nothing more serious than their vanity has been pleased with a few pretty compliments or dainty gifts from young men. In no other way does a girl stamp herself more favorably than in a sensible, well-bred manner toward the opposite sex. The right kind of a girl never invites attention, and if it comes to her she knows how to accept it gracefully without setting too much value on it. Love is wise and strong and the soul it comes to it makes likewise. It is no day dream, no fascination of the senses, no allurement that weakens the moral nature, but the power that makes a woman glorious and a man holy. Don't interchange vows of eternal devotion with a young man at the altar unless you are sure your love will live through years of shade and sunshine, and your old age will find you both lovers yet.

HOME LIFE.

It is the home that prepares us to meet the world successfully or unsuccessfully, and therefore it is a sacred and imperative duty to make it beautiful in spirit. Love makes the world the purer and sweeter, and without it we are unfitted for the nobler purposes of life. It gives us sympathy for others, gratitude for our blessings and a truer appreciation for things. There is nothing so sad as a home without love, whether it be a sumptuous palace or humble cottage; because without love, riches can bring a pure enjoyment of life and poverty is made unbearable. If parents endeavor to make home happy, the characters of their children will grow in beauty and strength. The mother and father who conscientiously study the characters of their children in order to train them wisely and well, and who take a lively interest in their welfare, have homes which are the foundation stones of morality and good society.

EFFECT OF GOSSIP.

Some of us say we do not care what other people say about us. But we do. We care a whole lot. When we don't care we have reached a very sad and pitiful stage of existence. It is very lovely to think that other people have good opinions of us. We certainly prefer pleasant thoughts to bad ones. But it often happens that, while we are quite innocent of having given offense, the gossips have—through envy or jealousy or other motives too numerous to mention—gone about their business with such remarkable thoroughness we wonder that we are really fit to associate with ourselves.

An Irishman being employed in a certain cemetery in America happened to be present at a Jew's funeral. When the coffin was deposited in the grave one of the deceased man's friends laid a coin on the lid of it. The Irishman seeing this asked his friend the meaning of it. "That coin," said his friend, "is to pay the deceased man's fare across the Jordan." "Negor, then," said Pat, pocketing the coin that was laid on the coffin, "he'll have to swim this time."

HINTS ON STYLE.

Bands of embroidered pongee are among the dress trimmings.

Mohair, glace silk and flannel are the popular materials for bathing suits.

The emerald matrix is one of the many popular stones for brooches and belt pins. Lady apples with flowers and foliage form one of the fashionable hat decorations.

Foreign fashion notes say that black silk gowns have been raised again to the pinnacle of triumph which they held fifty years ago in Paris, and also that it is the smart women who wear them.

Fine white serge makes the most fashionable yachting suits with stitched bands of the same material covering each seam, a stitched hip yoke and a short jacket with pale blue glace silk revers.

In gloves for summer wear there are some of the white glace kid which will wash. These cost more than other wash gloves, but they are satisfactory, and that is sufficient reason for their popularity.

Silk gloves with woven lace tops are to be worn with thin gowns this summer, as well as mitts, and they are both long enough to meet the elbow sleeves. Black, white and gray are the fashionable colors.

The laces most used for flounces are, first, the pretty imitation laces which cost enough to stagger any woman who has a moderate dress allowance and, next the pretty Alencon lace, Chantilly applique laces applied on net or chiffon and Brussels point.

Dotted Swiss muslin makes very attractive tea gowns over colored silk linings, and you may trim them as elaborately as you like with long or encircling lines of lace insertion. One very pretty gown of white nun's veiling is accented plaited, falling from an Empire bolero of lace insertions.

The very latest variety of sleeve has so large a bell below the elbow that it hangs in a full pouch just above the waistband. This is the model which the most fashionable dressmakers show you as the latest shape, the one which the Parisian fashion reports commend to your special favor as the newest thing.

Sleeves assume a variety of forms, of course, but the one prevailing rule is that they shall be moderately if not quite close fitting above the elbow. Below that point the detail of the sleeve may be varied in every possible way, so long as it has the full pouch effect, which may be regulated in size as may be becoming.

White, in whatever material you may choose, is without question the smart thing this season, and the new fancy for using lace in the ecru tints for trimming gives the white gowns an added charm. The lace softens the effect and helps to make pure white much more becoming to some women than it would be otherwise.

The material which is most in evidence among the summer gowns that have already appeared in public is the voile, made up in all sorts of dressy and simple frocks. At least there are degrees of simplicity which you can distinguish by comparison only, since genuinely simple gowns seem to have no part in the scheme of dress any way.

NEED OF TENDERNESS.

The world needs tenderness, but the world also needs discipline. We are to be strong as well as kind, prudent as well as pitiful. Society at this moment, at least that part of it which has benevolent instincts (not indeed a large part of it), seems to be in danger of mawkish and caressing philanthropy, which by no means is the Divine way of stimulating mankind to rise on its feet and exert itself, from which sagacious persons who can think as well as feel portend real danger to our social system before another generation has past.

DARK DAYS.

Does it rain today? Is it dark and gloomy? That is all right; there must be some stormy days. Tomorrow the clouds will have a silver lining or disappear entirely. Does the sun shine? Enjoy the sunshine. Tomorrow may be bright also. Are you well? Enjoy your health and use it to the best advantage. Are you ill? Then it is a day in which to be patient and endure cheerfully. Are you free from trouble? Then it is a thanksgiving day. Are you carrying heavy burdens for yourself or others? Then it is a day for the rolling off your burdens at the foot of the cross.

WHAT WOMEN TALK ABOUT.

An editorial writer with a taste for statistics has given to this waiting world a statement in which women may feel some interest. He declares that he recently stood in a thoroughfare of a large city and listened to scraps of conversation of fifty women who passed him. He published the result of the experiment and it is very, very low in his mind as he dwells upon what it denotes. Of these

DECLARE FOR FREEDOM

Interesting Debate Monday Night Before the Young Men's Institute.

The second of the series of debates inaugurated last month by Trinity Council was held Monday evening at the club house hall on East Gray street and attracted a large audience. These debates are very instructive and interesting, and the resolution discussed is today one of the leading questions before the American public. Before the debate began Messrs. Henry Strube, James B. Kelly, Ben Hund, Adam Snyder and Price Archer were announced as the judges, with Eugene J. Cooney as presiding officer. The subject of the debate was: "Resolved, That the United States should retain control of the Philippines." Chairman Cooney then presented the orators, Messrs. Emmet Slattery and Frank Dockweiler for the affirmative, and Frank Lenz and J. J. Sullivan, Jr., for the negative. Each side was given an hour, and during that time there were flights of oratory and eloquence seldom witnessed at such gatherings. Messrs. Slattery and Lenz are both lawyers and ably presented their side of the question, but Dockweiler and young Sullivan shared the honors, each presenting their ideas in an original but forceful manner. No better argument could be made for the retention of the Philippines than that of Mr. Slattery, but Sullivan's plea for freedom and the principles enunciated in the Declaration of Independence won the victory, the decision of the judges being rendered in favor of those speaking on the negative side of the question. All the speakers were recipients of frequent applause.

GLASER-HOCHADEL.

A wedding in the higher German Catholic circles took place Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, on Eighth and Grayson, between George R. Glaser and Miss Christina Hochadel. Although the hour was early, the church was filled with the friends of the young couple. The bride is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Hochadel, 2410 West Walnut street, and is very popular in Catholic society. The groom holds a very responsible position with the Byrue & Speed Coal Company. After a very elaborate breakfast and with the best wishes of the friends assembled, the bridal couple left on the Pennsylvania railroad for Chicago, where they will spend a week, and on their return will be at home with the parents of the bride.

RECENT DEATHS.

We regret to announce the death of Mary Mabel Flynn, the infant daughter and only child of James and Katie Flynn, of 715 Spring street. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon, the interment being in St. Louis cemetery.

It was with profound sorrow that the friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Hickey learned of the death of their little son Willie. He had been ill for some time and was removed to the home of his grandmother in hopes of a change for the better, but without avail. His remains were tenderly laid away in a flowered covered grave in St. Louis cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Murray, wife of the late Michael Murray, for many years an engineer on the Louisville & Nashville, succumbed to an attack of heart disease Saturday night at her home, 2100 West Broadway. She was a sister of Judge John McCann and was widely known in West End circles, where her death is deeply deplored. Two daughters, both young ladies, survive her. The funeral took place Tuesday morning from St. Charles church and was very largely attended. Rev. Father Raffo conducted the solemn obsequies.

Philip Drescher, Treasurer of the Delmont Club and one of Louisville's most deservedly popular young men, died very suddenly Tuesday morning at the residence of his father, John Drescher, 1300 Frankfort avenue. The deceased had suffered an attack of typhoid fever, and his recovery seemed certain until within a few hours preceding his death. The sad news was received everywhere with expressions of profound sorrow. But few men had more friends than young Phil Drescher, as was attested by the large numbers that followed his remains to Cave Hill.

The unexpected death of Mrs. George Wode, formerly Miss Catherine O'Hearn, which occurred Saturday night at St. Anthony's Hospital, was a great shock to her many relatives and friends. She was the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth O'Hearn, 1210 Frankfort avenue, and was held in high esteem in the East End. The bereaved husband is a well known railroad man and sincere sympathy is felt for him in his sad bereavement. Mass of requiem was sung Tuesday morning for the repose of her soul, and at the conclusion of Father White's feeling discourse there was scarcely a dry eye in the congregation. The interment was in St. Louis cemetery.

LOOK FOR BIG TIME.

Committee Promise Hibernians Surprise at the Next Initiation.

An interesting and well attended meeting of Division 2 of the Ancient Order of Hibernians was held Thursday night, President Will Meehan presiding. John Ridge and William Welch were balloted for and elected and the applications of John Burke and Joe Wallace were received. This makes nine members awaiting initiation. Thomas Conway was appointed Chairman of the Standing Committee, which will have some important business before it within the next month.

The announcement was made that the other three divisions had accepted the invitation to attend the big initiation to be given by Division 2 on Thursday, June 26. The Entertainment Committee was authorized to spend any amount necessary for the proper reception of the members and visitors on that occasion. Chairman Keaney reported that all arrangements were well under way and promised a surprise for everybody. Cor. Ford, Martin Minogue, John J. Sullivan and Thomas Conway made some very sensible suggestions, after which President Meehan urged all those who had presented names of candidates to have them present for initiation. The news that John Barrett would probably be present at the next meeting was hailed with exclamations of delight.

CHARITY CLUB PICNIC.

Preparations are advancing steadily for the St. Louis Charity Club's grand picnic, which will be given at Riverview Park on June 24. The dining room will be in charge of Mrs. Judge John McCann, who will be assisted by a number of ladies of the southern end of the city, including Mrs. Hannon, Mrs. Jamison, Miss Catherine Gieske, Miss Emma Deppen and other well known workers. No baskets will be allowed on the grounds, as this is contrary to the rules of the park, therefore the ladies in charge have arranged to serve dinner for twenty-five cents and dinner for the children at fifteen cents, which is certainly reasonable. The advance sale of tickets has been very large, and as the object is a most worthy one it is thought that at least $1,000 will be raised. All sorts of games will be played by the young folks, and among other attractions will be sack races by the members of the club, President John Heunessy having challenged all comers.
